The Right Career for Me

Meet Ben Cole

“ I started my career in electrical maintenance. Then the economy went south and I started to jump around. A friend told me about a maintenance technician position and, on a whim, I applied and was hired. My electrical background helped a lot. It helped me to be a good fit.

I love working with my team. People rely on me and I rely on them. I really like to solve people's problems. It's very satisfying to leave an apartment knowing you made a resident happy. ”

Opportunities for Advancement

Whether you like helping people, enjoy getting your hands dirty, or excel at teamwork, careers in residential property management (RPM) offer many possibilities and the opportunity for lifelong learning and career development. If you have served in the military, worked construction, or studied at a technical school, you probably have the skills to start a career as a maintenance technician. Stick with it and one day you could become a regional maintenance manager responsible for a portfolio of communities.
